Imagine
YOUR LIFE HERE

In Pullman, WA, life moves at a pace that lets you enjoy it.

Your commute is measured in minutes. The mountains, rivers, and trails are always within reach. Friday nights might mean dinner downtown. Saturday mornings could be spent at the farmers market or on the golf course. Fall brings WSU Cougar football, while summers are filled with community events, youth sports, and evenings that seem to last forever.

Here, you'll find more than a rewarding medical career. You'll find a community where relationships matter, neighbors become friends, and your family can truly put down roots.

BEYOND MEDICINE

Life in Pullman extends far beyond the hospital. Spend weekends kayaking the North Fork or Snake River, or join our staff for a marathon. Build connections with colleagues through Pullman Parks and Recreation leagues, join the community in stirring the world's largest bowl of lentil chili at the National Lentil Festival, explore hands-on exhibits at the Palouse Discovery Science Center, or cheer on the Cougs at WSU sporting events. Here, there are countless ways to find your people, discover new interests and make the most of life on the Palouse.

WHY PHYSICIANS PULLMAN

"Over my 3 years of residency training, I saw first hand what an amazing team we have which was a major hook for me. We have excellent resources for a critical access hospital in a rural community and family medicine physicians are given an opportunity to really make a difference in patients lives. Our patient population is also very educated and always show appreciation to the local healthcare team."

"I moved to Pullman right out of residency with my wife because it checked all of our boxes. We were looking for somewhere with a slower pace of life, a safe place to start a family, and a community where we could raise our kids. The universities in the area bring an extra vibrancy to small-town life, and we love that we get to enjoy rural living without sacrificing modern amenities and entertainment. We've made deep connections and developed a strong sense of community. Living in Pullman has definitely exceeded our expectations. "

"After living in big cities for 10 years, my family and I were ready to slow down. We love the Pullman area because you truly feel like you are part of a community. The people are kind, and it is the kind of place where you know your neighbors. The Palouse also has a unique beauty. It has been a great place for us to get out and hike, camp, be on the water, ski/snowboard, and ride horses. The schools are great, and my daughter has made many good friends here. "

"I love practicing in Pullman for one because I love the small town feel of Pullman that is accompanied by a college town feel. It is such a great place to raise a family and has so many resources available for kids, coupled with additional opportunities through the university. I also really appreciate the closeness of the medical community, and how doctors are so willing to help take care of members of the community. The answer when you call somebody almost invariably is “how can I help?”, and is such a collaborative and collegial groups "

Practice MEDICINE DIFFERENTLY

Built on deep community roots where patients are neighbors, allowing providers to build lasting, multi-generational relationships and deliver unhurried, patient-centered care.

Enjoy a collegial culture with minimal turf battles, highly supportive local specialists, and a multidisciplinary team approach that puts patient health first.

Consistently ranked in nation's top tiers for clinical quality, patient safety, and low readmission rates, backed by a diverse, engaged patient population.

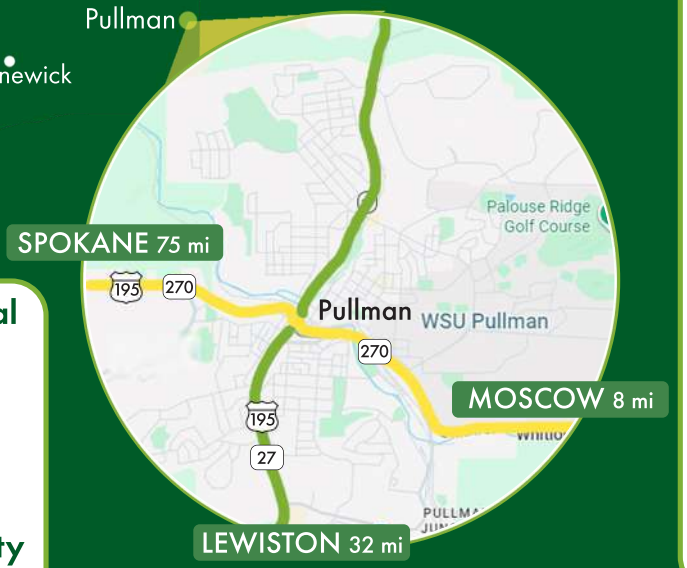

Access state-of-the-art tools—including advanced robotic-assisted surgery platforms and modern diagnostic imaging—typically found in much larger metropolitan health systems.

Every physician has a choice

Choosing where to practice is one of the most personal decisions a physician makes. It shapes your career, your family, and the community you call home. We are glad you are considering Pullman, Washington, and we take seriously the trust you place in us by opening this booklet.

Pullman is a community where you can know your patients by name, where colleagues become friends, and where the work you do is visible in the lives around you. We are an independent, community-owned hospital, which means the people closest to patient care shape how care is delivered. Beyond the hospital, the Palouse offers hunting, fishing, hiking, camping, and skiing and snowboarding within easy reach, while Washington State University and the University of Idaho bring Cougar and Vandal athletics and the energy of two college towns just minutes from your practice.

In Pullman we hold a simple belief: when we lead with joy, we build better teams, stronger families, and more connected communities. We create upward spirals that lift others and change the world one moment at a time. If that resonates with you, we would be honored to continue the conversation. Thank you for considering Pullman Regional Hospital, and we hope to welcome you home soon.
